Fall Health Fair Draws Biggest Crowd Yet

The new Flandreau Santee Sioux Tribal Clinic hosted a Tribal Health Day last Wednesday, Oct. 6. Organizers said it was a well-attended and successful event.

A steady stream of curious first-time visitors filed into the Tribal Health Center this past week alongside those that regularly seek care at the facility. It was the return of what had been an annual event in the past — Tribal Health Day. The event was cancelled in 2020 due to the COVID-19 pandemic. It was the first time, however, that the event had been held at the new Tribal Health Clinic.

Organizers were hoping that it would be a nice draw. It worked.

“We’ve seen that more patients come in every year, a bigger population coming in for the event. We hope that it gives them more information about their own health, they learn from it and learn to take better care of themselves,” said Kaelob Storms, community health educator for the clinic.

Chronic illness remains among one of the biggest health concerns for the Native population, diabetes and heart disease specifically. Staff at the clinic along with tribal leaders say they want to help change that fact for families now and for future generations.

Information about a diabetes clinic was one of the first booths at the Health Fair to greet guests. Beverly Wakeman, the tribe’s oldest living member, said it was encouraging to see.

Jackie Allen, a 21-year-old tribal member, echoed Wakeman’s thoughts.

“I didn’t know that they had a diabetes and a prediabetic program,” said Allen. “Younger generations — they don’t really know the signs and what to watch out for. I know our diets aren’t exactly the best, so being able to know from a young age that a balanced diet is important, seeing these food plates with labels, and knowing what we should be eating, that is really helpful.”

Also available at this year’s health fair was information on dental and eye care services, billing assistance, mental health resources, yoga, news of the new fitness center being planned (see attached article), the Wholeness Center, Moody County Cares, home health options and more. County Health Nurse Leanne Amdahl was also present with information on the availability of heart health screenings through Avera.

Planet Heart is a program offered through Avera Heart Hospital and is open to anyone 40 and older as well as those that may otherwise be referred for a screening by a physician. For $75, you can get your heart checked through a Calcium Score CT, a blood pressure and BMI screening, a blood sugar and cholesterol screening along with a vascular check of your carotid artery, and more. Call (605) 997-2433 for more information. Amdahl says you must schedule an appointment if you would like to be seen but that it is otherwise open to all.

The next Planet Heart event scheduled for Flandreau is December 3rd, 2021.

FSST Housing

FSST Housing Department has taken over the management of Tate Win. We have had multiple complaints on a cold draft coming through the windows and furnace room, during the harsh winter months. The before picture details that the giant vent left a big access of cold air into the apartments. The after pic details the replacement and sealing of the unnecessary vent.

When these apartments were built, the heating and cooling furnace situation was for a "Zone 1" system. Unfortunately we live in a "Zone 3". All furnaces will be replaced, but we wish to start on the North side of the building and work the way through. Along with furnace replacements, a Remy Halo will be installed in each apartment. This device kills any possible viruses (covid). (the last pic has the halo in it but you do not need to add that into the newsletter).

FSST Nursing Home on track

Construction projects, as we all know, have been tough to keep on track over the past year and a half. Materials shortages, rising costs, and labor shortages have left many home and business owners stalled or even putting off new builds until some sense of normalcy returns to the market.

But construction of the massive new nursing home just southeast of the Royal River Casino and Hotel remains relatively on schedule to open in August of 2022. Tribal management and Council for the Flandreau Santee Sioux say they are committed to it.

The 40-plus unit facility is being built with a strong focus on memory-care, something tribal leadership say is desperately needed. One wing of the facility will be dedicated to it. Currently most tribal members are moved out of the area to receive such care. Pearman says it's tough for families to remain active in their loved ones care let alone visit often when a resident is far away. Two other wings will be more skilled care. Residents will not have to be Native to be considered eligible for care.

Tribal attorney Seth Pearman said late last week that the progress we're all seeing really is exciting. FSST leadership believes that when the new home is complete, it will round out and complement other tribal wellness and medical programs put into place recently, and there is more to come with the new Wellness Center being planned in the same general location.

Pearman said that the nursing home will offer upwards of 88 new, well-paying jobs. The hope is to do on-site CNA training next summer, which is where a majority of the jobs will be. Housing for that staff and others in the community, however, remains a concern. Especially as the tribe grows other operations and priorities on its campus. Four-plexes that have gone up on the south side of town have been fully rented before the buildings even open. Pearman said this is most likely the next issue tribal officials will address.

A partial solution could come in the form of two new mixed-use commercial and residential buildings in the downtown Flandreau where the tribe already owns properties. Tribal Council is considering new buildings where the current Healthy Start is a few doors west of the Crystal Theatre (former ASCS offices). The other property owned by FSST is on Pipestone Avenue across from the Courthouse and adjacent to the building that houses the Moody County Ambulance Service.

"We're looking at a mixed-use development on Second Avenue where the tribe currently has property...retail on the bottom and at least two levels of mid to higher class lofts up above," said Pearman.

They would look to construct on the lot next to the ambulance facility at the same time. A Veterans Memorial will also be an integral part of the construction of the new nursing home facility.

"It is super exciting," said Pearman. "I think it shows a commitment to the health and well-being of our membership, especially our elders."

Three arrested in drug bust at Flandreau hotel, 4-month-old baby found during the bust

A four-month-old baby was found in a casino hotel room during a drug bust carried out by various law enforcement officials in Flandreau early Monday morning.

Three people were arrested, including two Sioux Falls residents.

Roberta Torres, 43, of Sioux Falls, was arrested by a Moody County Sheriff's deputy around 2 a.m. Monday at the Royal River Casino and Hotel, according to a press release from the Flandreau Santee Sioux Tribe. Torres had about 45 grams of meth on her person.

Shawn Tufte, 44, of Sioux Falls, sold Torres the drugs and was arrested by the Flandreau Santee Police Department hours later outside the casino, according to police.

While conducting a search of Leta Morrison's hotel room, Flandreau Santee Sioux Tribal police found a four-month-old baby along with 32 grams of meth and various pipes and syringes, according to the release.

Knowing the signs of meth abuse might help you save someone's life.

- Hyperactivity
- Drastic weight loss
- Dilated pupils
- Talkativeness
- Increased distractibility
- Tooth decay and loss of teeth
- Aggression
- Irritability
- Agitation
- Grandiose behavior
- Twitchiness

Think of the things that are important to you. Use meth and chances are, they'll all be gone. That's because using meth just once can lead to addiction. And it's an addiction that will completely take over your life. You'll lie. You'll cheat. You'll steal. You'll become someone you're not. Do yourself a favor and stay away from it.

- Loss of interest in normal activities, such as food, water, sex, and sleep

Getting "sketched out," or becoming agitated, nervous, moody, irritable, paranoid, and/or aggressive

- Jumpy eyes
- Scratching, itching, or picking at skin
- Financial difficulties
- Not meeting financial obligations
- Absenteeism or tardiness at school or work
- Noticeable changes in behavior
- Cravings
- Social and interpersonal problems
- Impulsive behaviors
- Memory loss
- Bizarre and erratic behavior
- Repetitive behavior patterns that can last for hours, also called "tweaking" or "geeking."
- Sleep deprivation, resulting in hallucinations, delusions, extreme paranoia, or violence

Domestic violence is not a Native American tradition.

Does your partner ever...

- Call you names or criticize you?
- Isolate you from family or friends?
- Threaten to hurt you or your children?
- Push, slap, kick or strangle you?
- Refuse to give you money for food, gas or medicine?

Three face charges in large meth bust

A gas drive-off in Egan could cost a Sioux Falls woman and two others far more than they ever imagined. Roberta Torres was found on the floor of Royal River Casino and Hotel shortly after she allegedly took off from BlueJays Bar & C-Store a week ago Sunday night.

Torres appears to be the woman in the security camera video filling up her truck and leaving without paying. The clear images of the truck, however, are what made it easy for officers with the Flandreau Santee Sioux Police Department to track the 43-year-old owner of the truck down. Torres was arrested there that night, on the casino floor, but not just for the gas drive-off.

Torres, a convicted felon, was out on parole and had been skipping out of checking in with her parole officers. Additionally, she was found to be carrying approximately 45 grams of methamphetamine with her in a small container.

Further investigation into where the container came from led later that day to the arrest of 44-year-old Shawn Tufte of Sioux Falls. Security video reportedly showed Tufte giving Torres the container outside of the casino Sunday morning.

In a search of the room Tufte's girlfriend had reserved at the hotel, Tribal Police also found an additional 32 grams of meth, other drug paraphernalia, and a four-month-old child. The additional discoveries now have Leta Morrison of Rapid City facing charges of Possession of a Controlled Substance, Keeping a Place for Use or Sale of a Controlled Substance, Drug Paraphernalia, Distribution of a Controlled Substance, and Child Neglect.

A total of 77 grams or 2.7 ounces of meth and approximately $5,000.00 cash were seized from Tufte and Morrison. The baby was placed in the care of Social Services and is now in the care of extended family.

The investigation and arrests were a concerted effort of multiple agencies including the Flandreau Santee Sioux Tribal Police Department, Flandreau Police Department, and the Moody County Sheriff's Office.

The Flandreau Santee Sioux Tribe and Royal River Casino work actively with law enforcement to deter the use of methamphetamine on tribal lands, and to bring justice to those who violate the law.
